February 3, 2011

The Honorable John Kitzhaber
Governor
900 Court St. NE
160 State Capitol
Salem, OR 97301

Dear Governor Kitzhaber,
On behalf of the International Association of Campus Law Enforcement Administrators (IACLEA), I write in support of SB 116 and SB 405 pending before the Oregon legislature.

IACLEA represents more than 1,200 campus public safety agencies at both public and private colleges and universities with members from all 50 states. We support federal, state and local initiatives that recognize the unique responsibilities of campus police, and initiatives that seek to strengthen campus public safety programs, personnel, training and management.

IACLEA believes state recognized college and university police agencies, particularly those at public institutions, should meet recognized standards. IACLEA endorses efforts to establish police at postsecondary institutions with powers and responsibilities similar to those conferred on state and local law enforcement agencies. Sworn campus public safety officers function with the same powers as municipal police. Recognizing and supporting these functions strengthens the resources of campus based officers dedicated to keeping our nation’s colleges and universities both open and safe.

We urge the passage of pending legislation and stand ready to answer any questions you may have about campus public safety.

Sincerely,

Phillip A. Johnson
President
February 3, 2011

The Honorable Arne Roblan
Co-Speaker of the House
State Capitol Building
900 Court St. NE, H-295
Salem, OR 97301

Dear Speaker Roblan,
On behalf of the International Association of Campus Law Enforcement Administrators (IACLEA), I write in support of SB 116 and SB 405 pending before the Oregon legislature.

IACLEA represents more than 1,200 campus public safety agencies at both public and private colleges and universities with members from all 50 states. We support federal, state and local initiatives that recognize the unique responsibilities of campus police, and initiatives that seek to strengthen campus public safety programs, personnel, training and management.

IACLEA believes state recognized college and university police agencies, particularly those at public institutions, should meet recognized standards. IACLEA endorses efforts to establish police at postsecondary institutions with powers and responsibilities similar to those conferred on state and local law enforcement agencies. Sworn campus public safety officers function with the same powers as municipal police. Recognizing and supporting these functions strengthens the resources of campus based officers dedicated to keeping our nation's colleges and universities both open and safe.

We urge the passage of pending legislation and stand ready to answer any questions you may have about campus public safety.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

Phillip A. Johnson
President
February 3, 2011

The Honorable Bruce Hanna
Co-Speaker of the House
State Capitol Building
900 Court St. NE, 269
Salem, OR 97301

Dear Speaker Hanna,
On behalf of the International Association of Campus Law Enforcement Administrators (IACLEA), I write in support of SB 116 and SB 405 pending before the Oregon legislature.

IACLEA represents more than 1,200 campus public safety agencies at both public and private colleges and universities with members from all 50 states. We support federal, state and local initiatives that recognize the unique responsibilities of campus police, and initiatives that seek to strengthen campus public safety programs, personnel, training and management.

IACLEA believes state recognized college and university police agencies, particularly those at public institutions, should meet recognized standards. IACLEA endorses efforts to establish police at postsecondary institutions with powers and responsibilities similar to those conferred on state and local law enforcement agencies. Sworn campus public safety officers function with the same powers as municipal police. Recognizing and supporting these functions strengthens the resources of campus based officers dedicated to keeping our nation's colleges and universities both open and safe.

We urge the passage of pending legislation and stand ready to answer any questions you may have about campus public safety.

Sincerely,

Phillip A. Johnson
President
February 3, 2011

The Honorable Peter Courtney
Senate President
State Capitol
900 Court St. NE, S-201
Salem, OR 97301

Dear Senate President Peter Courtney,
On behalf of the International Association of Campus Law Enforcement Administrators (IACLEA), I write in support of SB 116 and SB 405 pending before the Oregon legislature.

IACLEA represents more than 1,200 campus public safety agencies at both public and private colleges and universities with members from all 50 states. We support federal, state and local initiatives that recognize the unique responsibilities of campus police, and initiatives that seek to strengthen campus public safety programs, personnel, training and management.

IACLEA believes state recognized college and university police agencies, particularly those at public institutions, should meet recognized standards. IACLEA endorses efforts to establish police at postsecondary institutions with powers and responsibilities similar to those conferred on state and local law enforcement agencies. Sworn campus public safety officers function with the same powers as municipal police. Recognizing and supporting these functions strengthens the resources of campus based officers dedicated to keeping our nation’s colleges and universities both open and safe.

We urge the passage of pending legislation and stand ready to answer any questions you may have about campus public safety.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

Phillip A. Johnson
President